

FUNCTIONAL ESTHETIC EXCELLENCE UTILIZING 100% DIGITAL WORKFLOW

June 13 - 15, 2024

FUNCTIONAL ESTHETIC EXCELLENCE: UTILIZING 100% DIGITAL WORKFLOW

This course has no course or educational prerequisites

HANDS-ON PARTICIPATION COURSE

This course will introduce each participant to the possibilities of complex case planning utilizing 100% digital workflows. Special emphasis will be placed on understanding how software can be utilized to manipulate digital data from scanners and CBCTs to create high-resolution outputs from 3D Printers. Each participant will have control over their own computer, loaded with the 3Shapes Premier software, and will learn how to mount models, perform trial equilibrations, program a virtual articulator, perform simple & complex diagnostic wax-ups, as well as design an orthotic.

Through lectures, demonstrations, and hands-on exercises, every participant will learn how to apply The Pankey Institutes' timeless principles of occlusion, esthetic, biological health, and tooth-by-tooth structural integrity to contemporary digital workflows. Emphasis will be placed on how valuable time can be saved and where the return on investment resides with these rapidly emerging technologies.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

At the completion of this course, participants will be able to:

- How to mount Intra Oral Scans onto a virtual articulator, program the instrument, analyze occlusions in a virtual environment, and how this saves HOURS of time.
- How to perform trial equilibrations virtually + how and when to go back to an analog articulator with printed models to perform this task.
- How to perform basic and complex virtual wax-ups (digital designs) and why this will create superior outputs in far less time once the buttonology is mastered.
- How to use Splint Studio to design and print a TMJ orthotic.
- How to involve your team to maximize the use of the technology, while decreasing doctor time.

John C. Cranham, DDS

Dr. John Cranham resides in Chesapeake with his wife of 32 years Kim. He practices with his daughter Kaitlyn, and focuses on esthetic dentistry, implant dentistry, occlusal reconstruction, TMJ/Facial Pain and solving complex problems with an interdisciplinary focus.

John has been an active educator since 1995. In 2004 he began lecturing at the The Dawson Academy with his mentor Pete Dawson, which led to the merging of Cranham Dental Seminars with The Dawson Academy in 2007. He became a 1/3 partner and its acting Clinical Director and held that position until September of 2020. To date he has presented over 1650 full days (over 8000 hours) of continuing education all over the world. Today he has partnered with Lee Culp CDT, and their focus is on integrating sound occlusal, esthetic, and sound restorative principles into efficient digital workflows. He does this under the new umbrella Cranham Culp Digital Dental.

Dr. Cranham has published numerous articles on restorative dentistry and in 2018 released a book The Complete Dentist he co-authored with Pete Dawson. In 2020 he published a book entitled "The Cornell Effect-A Families Journey Toward Happiness, Fulfillment and Peace". It is an up from the ashes story about his adopted son, who overcame incredible odds, and ultimately inspired the entire family to be better. John's book climbed to #5 on the Amazon best seller list in Nov. 2022 in its category, and to date has sold over 100,000 copies. Of all the things he has done, he believes getting this story down on paper is having the greatest impact.
