

MASTERING TREATMENT PLANNING

October 2 - 4, 2025

MASTERING TREATMENT PLANNING

Prerequisite: Completion of Essentials 1-4 required; Course designed for aspiring Pankey Scholars.

HANDS-ON PARTICIPATION COURSE

In our discussions with participants in both the Essentials and Mastery level courses, we continue to hear the desire to help establish better systems for treatment planning and presentation. These conversations typically revolve around 'where to start' with a complex case. We both have participants we remain in contact with, both as friends and colleagues, who continue to require guidance on treatment planning these cases. The need remains for continued learning and guidance, hopefully through the development of a repeatable system, that can help participants gain confidence in applying the knowledge we know they have to planning and treating more complex dentistry. This course is different from the Case Acceptance Course, as our goal is to help develop systems around data collection, planning and sequencing, not so much patient engagement and co-discovery. We intend to build upon the foundation that the Essentials have established and provide a bridge for those seeking to fully implement their learning and eventually progress to Pankey Scholar.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

At the completion of this course, participants will be able to:

- Create confidence in "The Process" of treatment planning, sequencing, and case presentation.
- Develop and execute a system for treatment planning complex cases utilizing the concepts learned in the essentials.
- Understand how to appropriately sequence treatment utilizing the concepts learned in the essentials.
- Learn how to utilize case presentation and treatment planning to be their "Leader" in care and coordinate with specialists.
- Engage and Develop team members in the treatment process.
